Class Prophecy

"-5-4-3-2-1. Fire Rockets!" With these words from CAPTAIN R. C. DYSON, CO-PILOT GWYN BOGER pushed the throttle that shot the huge space-liner, Terro 5, into the void between Earth ond Mors.

For o few secands after "blast off" time oll the possengers because of the terrific momentum blacked out. On coming bock to reolity we were greeted by the pleasant voice of FRANCES RIDDLE, our hostess, telling us we could now remove our space helmets and look out our portholes at Earth.

While all the passengers were storing in amozement at the unbelieving vista below us, Fronces begon to distribute newspopers, magazines, ond tiny pills for anybody that might get spocesickness. The farmula for these now universol pills was discavered by DUKE JAMES in his drugstare laborotory.

I settled down, as comfortobly as one con in o pressurized suit, and began casuolly to flick the switch that turned the pages of my fovorite mogozine. Suddenly my eye cought the headline—FOSTER WINS IN UNIVERSAL PHOTO CONTEST. Sure enaugh it wos an old classmote Betty Lou. On reoding further I discovered that her subject had been BETTY ANGELL, the most celebrated model of Luna City. In the picture Betty wos wearing Modemoiselle JANIE COLLETTE'S newest creotion, a dress of Storlight Silver Lurex with Tempo-Resista Lining.

After two weeks of travel we were all onxious ta set foot ogoin on some solid ground. When the announcement came from the radio engineer, ROBERT LATHAM, that we would lond at 1700, it was greeted with excitement.

The signol to "cut rockets" came in over the inter-com. The huge plutonium rockets ceosed their splitting af atoms ond the spoceship settled down on its romp.

I, with the rest of the possengers, clombered through the hatch door to the oirlock which led to the odministration building of the spaceport. There I had o pleasant surprise. Who should be standing at the inner door of the lock but my old pal JUDITH WARD, now editor of the MARSPORT TIMES.

"Well, how in spoce did you know I was coming?"

"I received a rodio-gram from NANCY CHESHIRE, your publisher's secretory, soying thot you would be in todoy on Terro 5. It seems EUGENE WILLIAMS, head of the Willioms Publishing Campany, let it slip out at a meeting that he hos sent yau here to gother informotion for o new book."

"You're right. What a tosk maker thot mon is. But one must work for a living so let's set out and see this marvelous city."

"I have to hurry bock to my office, but I'll send two of my reporters to your hotel to act os guides."

"Who are they?"

"THEOLENE BEAUCHAMP and NANCY

MURPH. Here cames one af TOM MERONEY'S taxies. Jump in and tell the driver ta take you ta MORNING STAR HOTEL. MARY LOUISE BAILEY is the owner."

"Morning St— why BILLY MELTON when did you come to Mars?"

"Me? Oh, I've been here since the first plastic bubble that covers Marsport was built. I guess you knew it was under HARRY OSBORNE'S skillful engineering that Marsport was built. Yes, I'm getting to be quite an oldtimer like Harry, ROSALINE STEELMAN, MICHAEL ANGELL, and some of the rest."

"Smoking Rockets! What are Rosaline and Michael doing here?"

"Well, the last I heard Michael was working as a mechanic in EUGENE POPLIN'S Spaceship factory, and Rosaline, with NATHAN SMITH as her foreman, was running a Dude Ranch over on Syris Minor."

"Here's the hotel. Five credits, please."

"Blazing Comets!" exclaimed the receptionist, who was none other than PATSY BATES. "Look who's here. When did you get in?"

"Just got in. 1700. Have my guides arrived yet?"

"No, but they'll be here soon. Here sign in with your thumb print, and I'll send your luggage to your room."

Patsy turned around and spoke into a small tube mike to MARGARET EDWARDS, the hotel's telephone operator, "Hi, Margaret, a guest just came in. Send a scooter car after his luggage."

"Service de luxe. Oh good, here comes Theolene and Nancy."

"Welcome to Mars you earthburger."

"Hi, girls. You're looking fine. This Martain air must agree with you."

"We better be blasting off if we're to see much before night."

Our first Stop was the hospital. GERALDINE YORK, superintendent of nurses and DR. NANCY BOGER took us on a complete tour of the hospital. After poking our heads into numerous rooms of mysterious smells and sights, we decided we could use something more cheerful. Nancy suggested Marsport High School where JANE ROBINSON was principal.

In the year 1954, this would have been hardly correct, but now the schools are a dream from the Arabian nights.

When we walked in GERALDINE BOGER, HELEN DUNN, and BETTY RUTH STROUD were pounding away on their atomic typewriters. Jane, hearing so much excitement in her outer affice, rushed out. Seeing us, she stopped short and exclaimed, "When did you get in?"

"1700. Nancy and Theolene are showing me around."

"Well, just follow me and I'll show you the best school this side of earth."

We paused a minute to chat with NANCY COHEN, the physical education teacher, sampled in the cafeteria some of the GAY NELL COOK'S dehydrated steak, and since I was afraid I was getting a touch of Mars throat, I let BETTY ANN HARPE, the school nurse, spray my throat.

Next on the list was the United Planets Building, where I discussed inter-planet politics with Earth's representative, J A C K NAYLOR. Since POLLY BAKER'S Marcurial Beauty Shop was the way to our next destination, we stopped a minute to talk over with her the newest fashions and cosmetics from Venus, the style center of the Solar System.

At the Space Patrol Station the Commander-in-chief, PAUL RICHARDSON, let me shoot an honest to goodness ray gun. One of his cadets, JIMMY TAYLOR, showed me how to operate the huge radar screen that guards Mars against invasion.

After all our exploring, the thoughts of food began to trace tiny footprints across our mind. We decided on the STAR-LIGHT CAFE, awned and operated by BETTY ANN McDANIEL.

Inside I stopped to gaze breathlessly at a fairyland of softly twinkling stars. The interior decorator, EVA STRIDER, had done, as always, a work of perfection. EDNA SMITH, our waitress, immediately brought our dinners, and I settled down to the enjoyment of eating and watching the floor show. The main attraction was that now Universal Comedian, WAYNE LEONARD, who had learned all his jokes by practicing on the Mocksville students.

After a deliciaus dinner we paid our 20 credits to the cashier, LYDIA LAIRD, and stepped out into the quietness of a Martain night.

The next two weeks seemed to fly by on golden wings. The morning I was to leave, I hurried as usual, breathless up to the ticket counter. RUBY JEAN GOBBLE handed me my ticket with a smile and good wishes for a pleasant journey home. In the custom's office RACHEL BOGER checked my luggage and gave me a paper showing everything was free from any Martain disease.

I ran down the ramp to the airlock just as PEGGY BROWN'S voice came over the intercom saying, "All earth-bound passengers report to lock two. Terra 5 blasts off for Earth in 5 minutes."

"Board green! Clear from tower! Ready for count off! 5 — 4 — 3 — 2 —." The captain's chant was broken off by the explosion of the rockets. Terra 5 cast herself into space, and I was on my way back home.

Last Will and Testament

We, the members of the Senior Class of nineteen hundred fifty-four, of the City of Macksville, County of Davie, and State of North Carolina, being of age, of sound mind, and realizing it is time for our departure from dear ole M.H.S., do hereby declare this to be our Last Will and Testament.

I, Betty Carleen Angell, will my basketball suit to Carol Miller.

I, Robert Michael Angell, leave my silent, gentle ways ta Grady White.

I, Mary Louise Bailey, will my ability to always have a boyfriend ta Nancy Reavis.

I, Sylvia Ephelia Baker, will anything I have, except Paul, to anyone who is worthy of it.

I, Patsy Ann Bates, leave my Home Economics apron to Julia Allen, provided she will keep it clean.

I, Katie Theolene Beauchamp, will my position in the lunchroom to my sister, Christine.

I, Geraldine Ann Boger, leave my cooking ability to the Freshman girls, so that the Home Economics class can always prepare good meals.

I, Ray Gwyn Boger, will my bus, old No. 10, to Billy Cohen provided he will get to school on time.

I, Nancy Carolyn Boger, bequeath my witty ways to Floretta Collette.

I, Rachel Beatrice Boger, leave my freckles to Yvonne Hutchins, so she will be sure to have enough.

I, Marguerite Wilsona Brown, leave my laughter and talkative ways to my little sister, "Fat," so M.H.S. will always be jolly.

I, Nancy Louise Cheshire, will my pretty brown eyes to Yoman Smith, although his are pretty enough.

I, Nancy Joan Cohen, will anything I possess, with the exception of my husband, to Mary Lou Quillin.

I, Janie Mae Collette, will my ability to tell interesting book reports to Deanna Silverdis.

I, Gay Nell Cook, leave my friendly smile to Betty Sue Messick.

I, Helen Dhue Dunn, will my five - foot height to Betty Jo Foster, so she won't grow too tall.

I, Robert Curtis Dyson, will my title of "Cutest Boy" to Carl Safley, provided it won't make him conceited.

I, Margaret Elizabeth Edwards, leave my love for hillbilly songs to Marie McDaniel, provided she will sing them at the right time.

I, Betty Lou Foster, will my trim waistline to anyone who needs it.

I, Ruby Jean Gobble, will my love for shorthand and my pad to Carmen Rice.

I, Betty Ann Harpe, will my position in the elementary lunchroom, to anyone who has fourth period study hall.

I, Francis Duke James, will not.

I, Lydia Margaret Laird, leave my bookkeeping manual to anyone who can keep up with it and not get behind.

I, Robert Ferebee Latham, will my faotball suit to Clinard Haward.

I, Wayne Eugene Leonard, leave my way with girls ta my brother, Bobby.

I, Betty Ann McDaniel, will my naturally curly hair to Mary Alice Boger.

I, Billy Gene Meltan, leave my quiet ways to Don Beaver, so the teachers can keep him quiet in study hall.

I, Thomas Flynn Meroney, Jr. leave my train lantern to any boy that loves trains as much as I .

I, Nancy Ann Murph, leave my peroxided bangs to Doris Jones, provided she keeps them combed as well as I have.

I, Jack Doyle Naylar, leave my friendly ways to Mackie Deadmon.

I, Harry Albert Osborne, leave my charming personality to Bailey Walker, hoping it will win him as many friends as it has me.

I, Barbara Jean Plott, will my ability to write interesting themes to the under-classmen so Mrs. Wall will never be bored.

I, Matthew Eugene Poplin, will my ability to squeeze a passing grade out of Miss Martin so as to be eligible for basketball, to Lena Cornatzer.

I, Paul Henry Richardson, will my position in the commercial club to Troy Taylor.

I, Jane McGinnis Robinson, will my position of annual editor to Edward Rowland. May the annual of '55 be the best yet, with the exception of '54.

I, Frances Lauise Riddle, will my pretty blonde hair ta Ola Mae Cook to mix with her own.

I, Nathan Franklin Smith, leave my belt to Jimmy Spillman, provided he will wear it.

I, Edna Magdalene Smith will my typewriter to Alice Faye Ellis.

I, Eva Lee Strider, leave my poster making ability to Janice Smoot.

I, Sadie Rosaline Steelman, will my nickname, "Squeekie", to Nancy Bates provided she will return it when she graduates.

I, Betty Ruth Stroud, will my neatness to Marilyn Spencer.

I, Jimmy Albert Taylor, will my height to little Wade Gaither—may he grow as tall as I.

I, Judith Todd Ward, leave my dread of initiations to the unlucky people who have to go through with them.

I, Nathan Eugene Williams, will my white shoes to Billy Sells, provided he will keep them clean as I have.

I, Geraldine York, will my good grades to my former classmate, "Buck" Winters, so he will graduate with the class of '55.

We, the members of the graduating class of 1954, do hereby proclaim this to be the only valid statement of our Last Will and Testament.

Class History

It wos in the foll of 1950 thot the big, thick, velvet curtain of learning ascended ond presented ninety-eight freshmen in the four-act play, "Class of '54." Mony directors hove mode our play a success and every member of the closs is extremely grateful to them.

In the first oct Mr. Boose, Mrs. Wogner, ond Mr. Randol, potient and understanding, skillfully directed everything the class undertook. For its president this first yeor, the closs chose Harry Osborne. The much coveted honor of representing our class in the king and queen race at the Holloween Cornivol went to Mono Jo Siler ond Horry Osborne. As o result of the class's efforts and the popularity of both condidotes, Mono Jo wos crowned queen ond Horry Osborne won second ploce. Our representotives on the Student Council that year were Horry Osborne, George Winters, and Robert Lothom. It wos o new experience for us to toke port in student government octivities and this performonce odded much to the feeling that we were reolly growing up.

As added proof thot we were growing up, the next oct presented us os Sophomores. We felt that we mode a good choice in selecting Robert Lothom as closs president. Also we were fortunote in securing Miss Wall ond Miss Mortin as homeroom teachers, for they very copobly ond willingly directed our closs octivities. Janie Collette ond Jock Noylor were our king ond queen candidates. Again we hod o winner when Jock wos crowned king of the cornival. Robert Lothom ond Geroldine York served os representotives to the Student Council ond olwoys gove the closs the report on the Council's octivities.

The next act, probably our most memoroble one, wos our long-awoited Junior year. To begin the prosperous yeor, we were in charge of the refreshment stond ot the onnuol R.E.A. picnic. Mrs. Wall and Mrs. Calhoun took over the enormous task of directing our closs through its mony octivities. This was the yeor of the much onticipoted Junior-Senior banquet. Ours, held ot the Thomosville Womon's Club, wos o big success, or ot least we thought so. The theme, "Under the Western Skies," mode o hit with both the foculty ond Seniors, ond every member hod fun carrying it out. Our candidotes for the Holloween Cornivol were Robert Lothom ond Jone Robinson, but both were unoble to copture the crowns, however, t h e closs's floot won first ploce in the parode. Soon after the Junior-Senior Bonquet we begon work on our play, "Momo's Boby Boy," storring Eugene Willioms in the title role. This, too, wos o hit. Another importont event during our Junior yeor wos the ordering of the closs rings. Our representatives to the Student Council were Harry Osborne ond Jack Noylor. It is with gratitude thot we remember our closs officers who were president, D u k e Jomes; vice-president, Jack Noylor; secretory, Geroldine York; and treosurer, Noncy Cheshire. Without them we simply could not have occomplished so much.

Then come the grond finole, our Senior year. For president of the Student Council Jimmy Toylor was elected by the student body ond Horry Osborne won the honor of vice-president. Foithfully executing the duties os class president was R. C. Dyson. Helping him were the other class officers, vice-president, Jock Noylor; secretory, Rosaline Steelman; o n d treosurer, Duke Jomes. The finol act of our high school ploy was directed solely by Mrs. Crenshow, on whose copoble and understonding shoulders rested the guidance of the entire Senior closs. Jone Robinson wos chosen editor-in-chief of our onnuol, THE MOCKSVILLIAN, ond Horry Osborne wos chosen business monager. Representing the closs os king and queen condidotes for the Holloween Cornival were Peggy Brown ond R. C. Dyson. The $1000 gool in the Curtis mogozine campaign was reoched and exceeded.

As the curtoin descends upon our high school days, there ore only 44 of the originol cost of 98. Somewhere during the post three octs, other interests took them from our midst. But each of us who hos finished the ploy will always remember the good times, successes, foilures, ond disoppointments — there were some—which hove occompanied us doy ofter doy in our struggle for on educotion.

it's a FACT!

As you turn these pages today, or on some tomorrow, you will re-live the wonderful times you had "back in the good ole' days" at your Alma Mater. With the passing of years this annual will become a priceless treasure-train to whisk you back along memory lane to rejoin your old friends and re-visit familiar places.

As we at USECO turn these pages, we see the America of tomorrow. The farmers, the lawyers, the doctors, and the many trades and professions are so ably represented within these pages. We are honored to have played a part in recording this pictorial history of your 1954 school days . . .

. . . and THAT'S A FACT!
